Debate Forum To Be Held Monday

This Monday night the Newman Debating Society will present a forum, the first in a series to be given by the society.

The topic, which should be of interest to most of the students, is that of "The Welfare State or Free Enterprise." In other words this means, should the United States con-

You've heard of "the Stratton Story," well this is "The St. Michael's Story."

A committee was formed at the Student Council meeting of December 7, to aid Registrar Tom Garrett in acquiring full student participation during the shooting of a movie "Life at St. Michael's."

Those on the committee include Jerry Regan, George Rodden, and Bob McMahon. Full particulars are not as yet available as to when it will begin but it will more than likely be the latter part of next semester.

Councilman Tim Murphy submitted the following amendment to the Council Constitution: "That a division of the Council be taken on main issues or motions, and this division be tabulated by the reporter present for use in the MICHAELMAN. The moderator may strike out the tabulation

Songs of Christmas Ring Out Tomorrow Nite

For the second time within a week St. Michael's students are getting a free musical treat.

Close on the heels of last week's Garth concert, the students have another concert tomorrow (Sunday) night.

The St. Michael's Glee Club, which performed so outstandingly in the Night of Knights show, stages its annual Christmas concert tomorrow night in Austin Hall. Like the Garth concert, this outstanding affair will also be without charge to the students.

This concert will be remarkable for featuring two of the countries outstanding musicians. Dr. Stoehr of St. Michael's and Dr. Raab of UVM will collaborate to play Stoehr's beautiful Christmas Cantata. Stoehr will play the piano and Raab the violin.

Both Stoehr and Raab are extraordinarily good musicians - it will definitely be the chance of a lifetime for the students who attend.

The St. Michael's Glee Club has also become outstanding in its field. The group has made rapid strides since Prof. William Burke formed it three years ago.

"And What Do You Want Little Girl"?

The perennial query of "is there is, or is there not, a Santa Claus" is out for its usual airing. The pros and cons are bitter. Yet this year the hopelessly outnumbered small fry seem to have rallied new strength in their all out battle for the Claus. The reason is fairly simple, but why merely scratch the surface of the matter? Why not ferret out the reasons behind the reasons, attacking with the same logical aggressiveness as used in handling that scourge of the student - the overcut? We shall...

LATE NEWS

The mystery had a short life. Wed. night the Snack Bar was broken into and robbed of a sum of around $350.00. At press time State Police announced they had arrested a former employee and had recovered most of the money.

Knights Top Larries Thursday Night

by Whit Bartlett

Displaying their best brand of basketball to date, the St. Michael's College basketball team beat a good St. Lawrence five 54-51 before 1200 howling fans at the Memorial Auditorium on Thursday night. Tall Ted Burzenski upped his game average to 21 points as he tossed in 26 points on 11 field goals and 4 foul shots.

The game was close all the way and only 2 points separated the two teams at half time as the Knights led 28-26. The Purple widened the edge in the third quarter as Jim Farley, playing his best game of the year, sparked the play. Burzenski tossed in three hoops and at the end of the third quarter the Knights led 44-39.

In the last quarter the play was fast and furious with the Larries fast break working to perfection only to miss a large number of shots. The Knights moved to their biggest margin of the evening in this quarter when they led 51-41 with only about five minutes left. The Larries moved fast as time ran out and closed the gap to three points with less than a minute and a half left. Here the Knights put a very effective freeze on the ball and the game ended 54-51.

Burzenski was high man in the scoring department with 26 points followed by Farley with 11 points. All the Knights were up for this one and the game set the stage for tonight's tussle with heralded Boston College. The Knights will carry a four game winning streak into the game and have a game average of slightly better than 65 points going into the game, while holding their opponents to an average of 48 points a ballgame. The B.C. team has one loss on its record, this coming at the hands of Harvard.

Strong Hub Five Has Trounced RI

"There'll be action in Burlington tonight."

The Purple and Gold cagers of St. Michael's College play host to the visiting Boston College basketballers and that spells action in anybody's book.

This is the game the Michaelmen have been waiting for. When game time rolls around Memorial Auditorium should be a full house.

Pre-game predictions will find the Knights definite underdogs. BC is reputed to have its strongest team in many years. Bolstered by the addition of several stars from last year's winning frosh quintet (12-3), the Eagles have been rated second only to Holy Cross in New England. The Branonmen on the other hand have scored impressive victories over Champlain, YMHA of Montreal, and Becker, and are especially anxious to handle the boys from Boston in like fashion.

It's a sure bet neither team will be handing out any breaks. Both clubs want this game bad. A win for St. Michael's will not only be vengeance for their 44-36 defeat at the hands of BC in the Boston Arena last year, but will also "up" the Knights basketball rating in New England considerably.

The Eagles have already toppled a highly respected Rhode Island State quintet by the one-sided score of 63-46. The BC team also romped over St. Anselm's last Saturday.

O'BRIEN AGAIN

In their attempt to score an upset victory the Knights will probably face a starting BC five of Capt. Tom O'Brien (LF), Tim O'Connell (RF), Tom Deegan (C), Dick Fitzgerald (LG), and Mort Stagoff or Ron Hickey (RG).

O'Brien, an All New England selection last year, was a continual thorn in St. Michael's side when they met in the Arena. Stagoff will also be remembered as the lad who poured 15 points through the net in that same encounter. Sophomore additions to the starting lineup are Dick Fitzgerald and Tim O'Connell, younger brother of the famed Dermie O'Connell. In the Rhode Island State opener O'Connell hit for 18 points.

Winter Carnival Plans All Ready

January 10, a little more than a week after vacation, is the final date for entry in the King and Queen Contest. The winning couple in this contest will receive many prizes.

Red Dobbyn, St. Leo's, is the chairman of the contest. Area chairmen include: Burlington, Jerry Cassidy; Essex Junction, Ted Kenney; Old

Give Yourself A Present

Let's give ourselves a Christmas present, and at the same time be giving one to those around us. Particularly we will be helping our loved ones.

The materialism of the world, with its worldly ways has taken a foothold on Christmas. This attack has taken a long time but it is stronger than ever today. Maybe we haven't noticed it, the way it has crept up on us all, but it is definitely here.

Once the whole world knew the true meaning of Christmas and sincerely appreciated it for its real meaning. Then, unlike now, the proper reverence was shown to Christmas time. Today people are more than ever under the impression that the only reason for Christmas is to exchange gifts and make a big occasion out of Santa Claus' coming.

Now, don't brand us as old kill-joys. We appreciate presents and the fun kids have over Old Nick as well as the next one. But what we are trying to impress upon ourselves and you is that these aspects of Christmas are secondary. Far above everything else, the 25th of December belongs to the Son of God, Jesus Christ. It is His birthday, and if anyone ever born or to be born deserves greetings on his birthday, it is the Child of the Manger.

All we have to do is stop and think of the powerful significance of such a day. Jesus Christ -- born in a common manger--to a mortal woman--for the one purpose to live on this earth, to suffer and die -- for our salvation.

Going to Church isn't enough. We only fidget so we can get home to open presents and eat a big dinner. The day should start for us by saying upon awakening, "thanks, dear Jesus, for this day." We should pray Christmas Mass with all the love and intention of a grateful child. And, if we stop and realize the importance of the whole day, we could easily keep in mind how much Christmas means to us. Especially as Catholics our every thought and action should reflect the joyous appreciation we hold for Christmas Day.

Why don't we give this present to ourselves this year? That we will consciously keep our thoughts and acts on the true meaning of Christmas. There is no need to put on a saintly air to accomplish it. Just let the meaning of the day burn in your heart and you can feel sure that it will show happily on you.

And if we just let those at home who will be around us know how we feel about Christmas, it's almost certain they'll be right with us in proper spirit throughout the day.

Letters To The Editor

To the Editor:

The first rehearsal of the newly organized BAND was held in Aquinas Hall on the 6 of December with eighteen members present and six additional students, who could not be present, signifying their intention of joining.

This meeting represented a final attempt to form a BAND here at St. Michael's and it is hoped that a strong organization can be built around this nucleus. We seem to be well represented in every form of collegiate activity, with this one exception, and it is a noticeable defect especially at football and basketball games. With the Boston College game tonight, and UVM in February, the student body could show outsiders that school spirit does exist here and a band would furnish the extra vehemence which we have noticed lacking in the cheering section at the games we have attended.

What do you say, musicians? We've made the start; do you have the spirit? If you can play any instrument you are welcome in the band. There are vacancies in all sections, particularly for reeds and trumpets. Rehearsals are at 6:30 on Tuesday nights in Aquinas (with the exception of the 20th--unless you don't want to go home for Christmas). Let's go!

LET'S HAVE FIFTY PIECES IN 50!

HILL WIND

by Charlie Guill

Due to the great number of students employed at different jobs during the Christmas vacation we thought it necessary to ask the following question:

"Are you in accordance with the length of time allotted for the Christmas holiday?"

JOE SHEA SPRINGFIELD, MASS.

No, because many Michaelmen work during the Christmas holidays. It is my belief that many more would work if they could go after Post office jobs on an equal footing with students of other New England Colleges who begin their recess around the seventeenth. In the future it would be nice if the administration would consider giving us more time at Christmas and less at Easter. - Remember Christmas wages really help out!

DICK BULEY TROY, N.Y.

No, for I think that some consideration should be given the working student. We must realize that were it not for the GI Bill most of us would not be in school.

ART FRASER RUMFORD, MAINE

No, because I think that the body of the holiday should come at least five days before Christmas even if it means sacrificing time at Easter. Actually it doesn't mean much to me as I am leaving soon but for the benefit of the classes coming up I think that this question should receive serious consideration.

ANDREW MCCAULEY KINGSTON, N.Y.

No, because by the time you get home, all the good jobs are taken by students of other schools that get out earlier. I know that most of us would certainly appreciate some extra money!

FRANK POTVIN SHELburne, VT.

Yes, because I figure that the school has considered all the "pros" and "cons" and has come to the conclusion that the time allotted is the one best suited for us; although due to the great number of students I imagine there must be some exceptions to this.

MIKE NARDI

SOUTH HADLEY FALLS, MASS.

No, I don't think we are let out early enough. I doubt if the administration realizes that the fellows need to work in order to get through school!

Prayers are requested for the mother of Rev. Armand Couture, S.S.E., and the mother of Bro. Josaphat, S.S.E.

NOTES TAKEN IN EARLY SPRING

Scientists, whose reaching eyes
Record the stars that grace the skies,
Also peer through microscopes
At tiny things, wherein their hopes
Of finding nature's secrets all,
Quite stagger one with knowledge small.

But this I know and gladly tell
That you may likewise know as well:
Bread mold is not simply rotten,
(That thought should be soon forgotten)
Live there many creatures who,
Like us, are male and female, too.

Though it be winter, have no fears,
They need no spring for young ideas.
No musk, nor moon, nor music moves them,
But they do mate, when it behooves them.
And while they look alike to me --
The he can tell, and so can she.

Buck McMahon sends Dick Jacobawski's address for those who would like to send Dick a Christmas card. Send them to Dick at 104 South Highland Avenue, Tucson, Arizona.

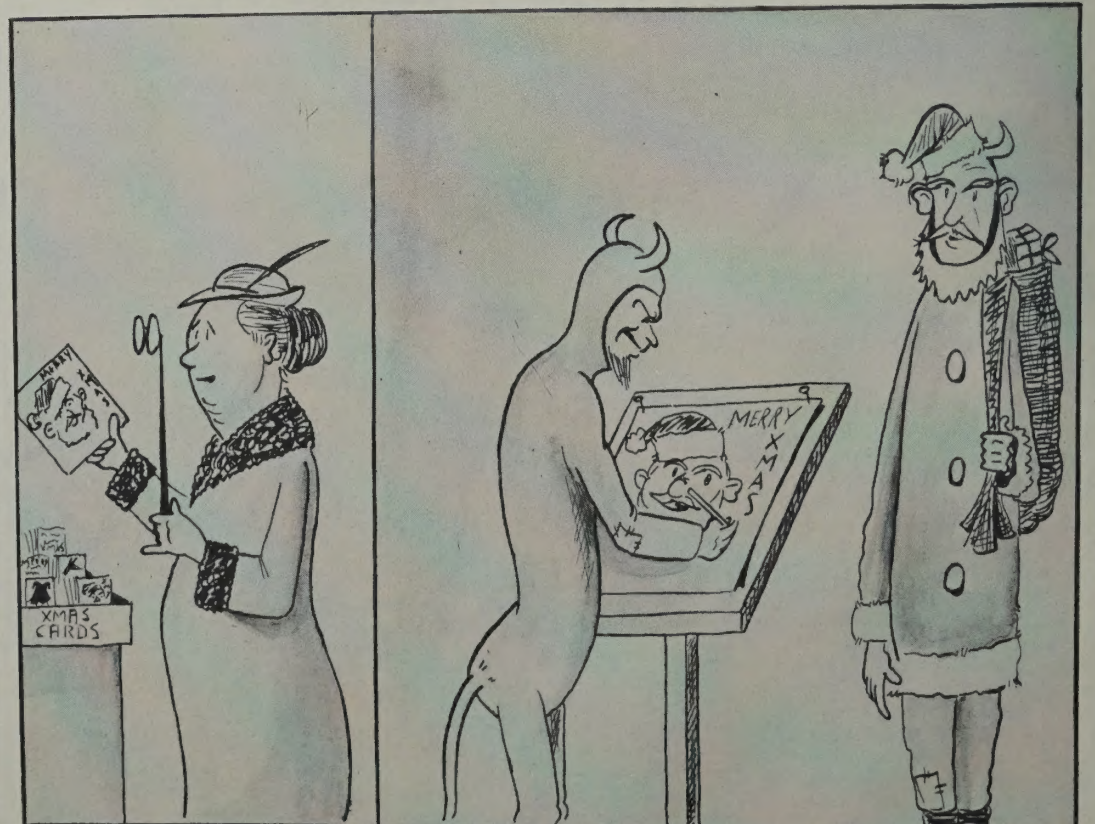

Ken "The Babe" Griffin, St. James' prospect for the Golden Gloves Middle-weight crown, made his debut into Winooski society last Saturday. John Yurasits sold his stock in "Dick's Sweet Shop" to Ted Morris. The man to watch is Paul Saint Marie and his "electrified feet." The boys in St. James' Hall are wondering if Bill Langenstein enjoyed his ride last Saturday night. Joe Lively has opened his own Washington Market in St. John's B, send your orders to Joe at Box 210, St. John's. Lumberjack John Provenzano works late into the night. Nice work if you can get it "Pro," but "Oh My Aching Back." Art Coggio is quite the scholar, he can tell you what each letter in the alphabet stands for.

Who is the new love down at Tri Delta, Moose Whalen? We are pleased to announce the engagement of Jim, "Skippy the Pigmy" Garvey to M.G. of the Warner House. Jim Whitlock is in the "Barbara" handicap. Joe Hermans is taking all bets on his roommate. All Don Watson wants for Christmas is a Tank-destroyer. Ed Millette is the president of the St. John's "Gadgeteer Club." St. John's B is looking forward to seeing Joe Furey out there for the spring football session, it seems there isn't much room for improvement according to Joe. Eddie Hagen has been saving many souls in St. James recently. Hey, "Red" McKillop, how is that ear you had singed on the bus? Ray DeJesus has "bugs" on the brain. Blue ointment is a sure cure, Ray. The St. Patrick's "Pink Slip Eleven" is set to face any grid foe.

Shamrocks to Frank Warzocha who is leading in the sale of Christmas Cards for the Mission Crusade. Shamrocks are also in order for Art Fraser and Jim Loughrey and others who did an excellent job on the decorations for the Senior Ball.

Question and Answer

HMM, I WONDER WHERE THEY GET THESE LOVELY CARDS?

Tony Cauley

For the past three weeks, this column has busied itself letting people know what we think is wrong with the policy of a selected few at Middlebury College. Comments have been varied: some say good, keep it up if that is the way they feel about things; others say that we are sticking our nose where it doesn't belong; one St. Mike's student told us last week that he knows Sam Donnellon personally, and that the young man from Middlebury is a gentleman of the first order. Most likely Donnellon is a good guy to know, as is every other Middlebury student we have ever come in contact with. Whether or not he thinks Middlebury would gain anything by playing more games in Vermont, has nothing to do with his status as a man representing his college. He is entitled to his own opinion, as is every other tax-paying American citizen. So now we get around to the word opinion, which we have been meaning to build a column around for some time.

CONDUCT IS DISGRACEFUL

The "opinions" directed by altogether too many St. Michael's students toward referees of St. Michael's athletic contests, has become absolutely disgraceful. It has got so now, that every time a referee blows his whistle, about "five hundred gentlemen representing St. Michael's" send up a howl audible for six blocks around the Auditorium. If perchance the call goes in favor of St. Mike's, the noise dims a little, but the warning is still there for the ref not to dare call one against the Knights. We know that not all the howling is done by students, but they at least should set the example.

The howling and noise isn't so bad, but some of the personal remarks directed toward a couple of the Auditorium refs has got to the point where a visitor would begin to wonder if he is among a group of college students, or whether there is a game going on between a couple of reform schools. And here is one who will bet the language at reform school basketball games isn't as bad as some of the stuff thrown around the Auditorium as of late. Those kids couldn't get away with it.

The Becker game was the pay-off. I just wonder what kind of an opinion of us their players and coach took back to Worcester with them. As far as we know, it was their first visit to Vermont, and if they call us nothing but a bunch of cry-babies, they will be letting us off easy.

Squires Win, Beat Ink Spots

The visible grip with which the Purple Squires' basketball team has monopolized the mythical championship for the past three years looked as strong as ever last Saturday night as they coasted to their second straight win. This time it was at the expense of the unimpressive McGregor Ink Spots, 49-26.

This game could be summed up simply in a few words as no contest, so far as the Squires were concerned, as the ragged Ink Spots provided little competition.

Paced once again by their elongated center, Paul Aumand, the hook special artist, from North Walpole, N.H., the Squires scored almost at will. At the end of the first half the scoreboard showed that the Squires held a commanding lead, 33-14, and Aumand had the satisfaction of having sunk five hook shots out of five attempts.

PREDICTION: Squires to go all the way without tasting defeat, and future Squires teams to get a more potent schedule.

FUTURE KNIGHTS AMONG THE SQUIRES: Aumand, Nolan, Barry and Gallopo. Ed Nolan is the boy with the greatest of potentialities, but just can't seem to get started.

Michaelmen To Take Census

Father Paul Hebert reports that he has contacted the U.S. Census Bureau, and has received some information in regards to the possibility of students working with the Census Bureau during April and May.

All upperclassmen who are majoring in sociology and are interested in this type of work are invited to see Father Hebert in the vocational guidance office on the first floor, Old Hall. As yet, there is no definite information available but arrangements are being made so some students may possibly be able to secure part-time positions.

Father Hebert hopes to furnish more information after the Christmas Holidays. Forthcoming information will be posted in the MICHAELMAN as soon as it is received.

Hockey Squad Reports With Good Season Due

St. Michael's varsity hockey team will open a 10 game schedule January 10, against the Champlain College sextet. The schedule still has a few open dates, two of which may be filled by Loyola of Montreal.

Present plans of coaches "Bill" Piscione and Fr. Garrett B. Larkin S.S.E., call for workouts in the gym consisting of limbering up exercises and basketball. This is part of the conditioning program necessary before the Knights take to the ice. Coach Piscione feels that basketball workouts will give his squad plenty of the "stop-and-go" necessary for hockey.

Len Tyl, a West Rutland, Vt., senior is handling the managerial duties.

Among the veterans from last year's team reporting are: Jim Feloney, Cambridge, Mass.; Jack Conway, Arlington, Mass.; Tom Duggan, West Roxbury, Mass.; Henry Harney, Melrose, Mass.; John McIntyre, Wakefield, Mass.; Jim Stafford, Charlestown, Mass.; John Paul Trotier, Orleans, Vt.; Jim Whitlock, Charlestown, Mass.; and Bob Pullock, Arlington, Mass.

Sophomore members of last year's Frosh team who are expected to bolster the varsity are: Bob White, Melrose, Mass.; Bob Belliveau, Lynn, Mass.; Jim Brown, Lynn, Mass.; George Maloney, Somerville, Mass.; Roland Beaudoin, Lawrence, Mass.; Dick Gleason, Roslindale, Mass.; Phil Dulude, Alburg, Vt.; and Lloyd Nolan, Framingham, Mass.;

Twenty-eight Frosh, also coached by Piscione and Fr. Larkin, are seeking positions in the Squires lineup. The freshman team has been entered in the Burlington Independent League and will also play two games each with the yearlings of Middlebury, Norwich, and Vermont. Dates have not been set yet for the Frosh games.

Varsity Hockey Schedule---1950:

January 10, Champlain, home; 14, St. Lawrence, home; 30, Middlebury, home.

February 4, Vermont, home; 7, Champlain, away; 11, R.P.I., away, 13, Vermont, away; 14, Norwich, home; 21, Middlebury, away; 28, Norwich, away.

Knights Batter Becker By Burzenski's Blasts

by WHIT BARTLETT

St. Michael's scored its third straight win of the still young basketball season last Saturday night when they ran over the small Becker College five of Worcester, Mass., by a score of 66 to 43 before 1500 court fans at the Memorial Auditorium.

The Becker Black Knights simply couldn't cope with the Purple's height. Tall Ted Burzenski had himself a field day, ringing the strings for 32 points, his highest total since he came to St. Michael's. His best previous effort was against New Hampshire last season when he scored 30 points.

The scrappy Becker team, led by Joe McMahon, started the scoring and moved into a 7 to 2 lead in the first stanza before Bob Kateley laid one up to push SM into an 8-7 lead, they never lost. Two quick hoops by Burzenski pushed the score to 12-7. Here the action slowed down some and the Purple led 16-10 going into the slow second period.

Neither team could score until the second quarter was almost half gone. Burzenski scored 4 points and Ed Markey dropped in a free throw for the entire output of the second period. Becker didn't do any better though and the half ended with the Purple in the van 21 to 15.

After half-time the Branonmen really poured it on. With Jimmy Farley setting up the play and Ted hitting for 19 markers the Purple five moved to a 53-27 score early in the fourth period where the second team took over to finish up.

Co-captains McMahon and Jack Swan were outstanding in a losing cause for the Black Knights. McMahon scored 17 points while Swan was chipping in with 10. Behind Burzenski in the Purple scoring was Farley, with 12 points for his night's effort.

All roads lead to New York as far as the St. Michael's basketballers are concerned. Next week the Branonmen will embark on a trip to the big city that will include games with Hofstra College, New York AC, and St. Peter's of New Jersey. All three of these teams are recognized as basketball powers.

The first of the three games will be played at Hempstead, New York, against the "Flying Dutchmen" of Hofstra on Tuesday night. Last year the formidable Hofstra array garnered a record of 18 victories against 8 defeats. Included among their victims were St. Michael's whom they downed 59-49. Leading the Dutchmen will be Captain Tom Fowley, who was their leading scorer last year, pouring 320 points through the net in 26 games. Experience is not lacking on the Hofstra squad as they have six seniors and two juniors.

On Wednesday night the Knights will travel to New York City where they will battle the New York AC before television cameras. Notable in the AC's lineup will be the presence of many ex-collegiate stars, including six-foot seven Charlie Bollinger, formerly of Holy Cross, and Jerry Smith, who captained Fordham last year. This will be the first meeting between St. Michael's and the New York AC.

For the final game of the road trip the Branonmen will travel into New Jersey where they will be entertained by the Peacocks of St. Peter's College. Last season, when they had the very impressive record of 18 victories as compared to only 5 defeats, St. Peter's barely eked out a 56-54 victory over St. Michael's. This game will wrap up the Knights activity until January 7, when they meet Champlain at Champlain.

Students Enthusiastic Over Garth's Concert

John Garth III, presented a concert December 12 before a large and appreciative audience of students. With the building resounding from his bass-baritone voice, Mr. Garth sang a selection of numbers, acclaimed "tops" by the students.

The momentum of his program increased until he sang his interpretation of "Song of the Flea," which was very well done.

Also included in the program was the Mixed Chorale, directed by John Scrabulis. Garth, himself, led the applause after the group's selections. Garth complimented Scrabulis, saying he had "a lot on the ball."

The fine quality of his program, continued with the popular Negro spirituals and a duet "Bess, You Is My Woman Now," with Cathleen Griffin. In response to applause for the latter number, Garth and Miss Griffin sang "Indian Love Call."

His program concluded, Garth offered an encore of three songs, which he said he was going to sing anyway. The first, "The House I Live In," which he termed one of the greatest numbers written, was sung by special request. Upon its conclusion Garth commented: "I think it was worth it."

Following this number he sang "London Girl." Garth announced that he had been "instructed not to leave without singing 'Ole Man River'." This was dedicated to the Very Rev. Daniel P. Lyons and the faculty of St. Michael's.

The success of the concert was mirrored in the faces of the large audience, many of whom remained to congratulate Garth and secure his autograph.

The St. Michael's College band moved another step up the ladder of re-activation when it was voted $173.00 by a majority Council vote. Bill Cofrances, newly-elected band president, expressed his thanks and assured the Council of a success. The funds will go for new arrangements, music stands and instruments. Athletic Director Jacobs provided a further lift to morale in stating that if the band proves its worth, he will purchase uniforms and even consider transportation to an important football game.

The College Glee Club was voted the amount of $5.00 to defray decorating expenses at Austin Hall for a Christmas concert on December 18.

The Leo Contois - Bill Timbers committee will investigate the possibilities of installing a new mail box either in front of the Library or in some centrally located site.

Gus Contant, Night of Knights M.C. submitted a detailed report of the show to the Council which included a $700.00 profit to the Burlington Boys' Club.

Sophs Are Tops In Class Plays

With Ned O'Gorman and Red Lancour collaborating the sophomore class walked away with all the laurels in last week's class play competition.

O'Gorman won the title for best director, Lancour came in first in the competition for the best actor and the soph class took the crown for the best play with its production of "The Long Voyage Home."

The sophomore and the freshman plays went on Wednesday night and the juniors and seniors took to the stage Sunday.

There'll Be Some Changes Made On the Air

St. Michael's College Radio Workshop will take over WCAX in Burlington Monday (19) from sign on to sign off.

Program Director Milton Slater, who teaches the course, said students will work in departments and on programs of their choice. It marks the first time students have been given such a chance to help operate the CBS outlet, largest station in Vermont.

Regular station personnel will stand by, but so far as possible all jobs will be handled by the 25 students.

tinue its free enterprise system or should we have a Nationalization of this free enterprise system which might lead us one step closer into Socialism or Communism.

The forum will be held at the regular NFCCS meeting Monday night at 7:45 in Science Hall 107.

The speakers chosen by the society are: Jack Burke, Donald Powers and William Hindle upholding the affirmative side and Larry LaFountain, John Chachere and Bill Liberator upholding the negative side.

interview John said "This suit is hot, even hotter than it looks and talking for hours is tiring, but I love it. Those little kids look up at me with their innocent saucer-like eyes and just pour out their hearts to me." There is no doubt about it, the kids do go for John and in a big way. When that master of vocal vibrations ever so sweetly roars "And what is your name honey?", even the store clerks perk up and take notice.

Of the critics, Louisa Allgood in the bi-monthly Tryit, says of our Sears Santa "John Paul is undoubtedly the finest Nick we've seen this season." In the SYNC, Ira Allen states, "the SYNC certainly hopes you Macy Nick, he Saks them in at Sears." It's the same all over town. When John Paul says, "And before you go I want you to take along one of these pictures of Santa Claus. Bye, Bye,!" what kid could ask for more?

Winter Carnival

Hall, Tom Moriarty; St. Pat's, Guido Forte; St. Leo's, Joe Burgwinkle; St. John's, Jack Lyons; St. William's, Bill Driscoll; St. James', Jack Gardner; Married Vets, Ed Kosicki; Aquinas, Charlie Toomey; Winooski, Bud Murray.

The carnival itself is scheduled for Feb. 3, 4, and 5. The events for the weekend will include skiing, hockey, basketball, dramatic skits and two dances.

A committee from the Outing Club will handle housing arrangements.

One of the features of the weekend should be the snow sculpturing. Last year, St. James' Hall emerged supreme in this department with their dehorned Knight.

This will be the second annual winter carnival at St. Michael's. Last year's carnival was a tremendous success despite the lack of cooperation from the weatherman who dished out one of the warmest winters ever seen in this here state.

Glee Club

Now, with a student director, John Scrabulis, the Club is already equal to any in the state. This is the opinion of competent musical authorities.

Tomorrow night the Club will also be assisted by the Trinity Glee Club. The overall program will be well varied. It includes selections by the Male Chorus and Mixed Chorale of the St. Michael's Glee Club, Stoeher's Cantata, a solo by Charles Flanagan, a trio group from St. Michael's and Trinity and selections by the Trinity Glee Club.
